The Last Supper

The Passover and the Eucharist Meal are all about remembering and also saying thank you for those things you are remembering.

Activity

Create a memory box of things you want to say thank you for. A memory box is something where we can put things that help us to remember special things and people. You can put anything your like into the box – photographs, drawings, letters, tickets, poems, stones – you can put anything that helps you to remember why these things are special to you. You may also want to write a thank you note or prayer for the person or thing you are remembering. The memory box is a special thing so try to decorate it in a special way.

Dear Parents/ Carers,

This week is usually a special time for us in school with our Easter reflections and activities. I know some children in Year 5 were particularly looking forward in acting out our Easter reflection. So this week I have included Easter activities you can do with your child. However, feel free to continue with the daily reading, word of the day, writing and the maths websites if you wish to keep up a routine.

Wishing you all a happy and relaxing Easter.

Mrs Sibson and Mrs Godsall

The Resurrection

The Resurrection is the most important event in the entire Bible for Christians and is sung about in worship songs all year round. It is because of what happened on Easter Sunday that Christians believe God has promised a way to heaven.

Activity

Design a card that explains what Christians believe about Easter. Make it bright and happy.
